Suggested Improvement / Room for Development	For future visits, consider designing story-based guided tours tailored for young children. This could involve role-playing scenarios (e.g., 'Museum Explorers') with simple interactive tasks like 'hunting for specific artifacts in the gallery.	Consider providing magnifying glasses or simple observation kits during the next visit, allowing children to examine insects or plants up close.	The future visits could incorporate hands-on planting and watering activities, allowing children to observe plant growth cycles firsthand. To enhance engagement, include harvesting experiences like pulling radishes or picking vegetable leaves.

	6. Others (Please specify): _____	Through parent-child physical activities like kite (or paper airplane) flying, children can experience the beauty of nature while strengthening family bonds.			3. Others (Please specify): _____	Through Cantonese opera appreciation, children will learn the four core artistic techniques - singing, speech-acting, movement, and combat - while discovering connections between traditional theater and Chinese literature.			3. Others (Please specify): _____	Children will learn about traffic safety infrastructure and understand basic road safety rules.
Suggested Improvement / Room for Development	For the next excursion, teachers may prepare 5-10 partial photographs of key locations. Families will need to match these images to actual spots and recreate the exact-angle photos. Completed sets can be redeemed for small rewards. Consider			For the next activity, children can try simplified theatrical costumes featuring child-sized detachable cloud collars (with Velcro fasteners) and removable water sleeves. Illustrated step-by-step guides will be provided for independent dressing and undressing.			Next session will incorporate role-playing scenarios where preschoolers practice street-crossing procedures through simulated 'Stop, Look, Listen' exercises.

	adding fun prompts like 'heart-hands selfie' or 'animal pose challenge' to each photo clue.
